

SYNOPSIS

Science Busters - Don't Know Anything? Believe Everything!

Science Busters - Wer nichts weiß, muss alles glauben

Did you know that crabs can do karate, pigs glow in the dark and cockroaches have sex with their heads detached? The Science Busters explain the physics behind oddities of the animal world, such as how sea snails learn for their high school diploma, when waterbears reproduce like Boris Becker and why jewel beetles always lose when they play spin the bottle. Top science and top class humour need not be enemies! This is demonstrated by a cabaret artist and his two scientists in new episodes of their megasuccessful stage show with their own experiments and punchlines. The popular science cabaret returns.
