

SYNOPSIS

You Always Meet Twice

Stadtkomödien: Der Fall der Gerti B.

Three friends, who haven't met for forty years and whose lives couldn't be more different, meet up on an evening that will change their paths forever. Gerti B. is a detective and has given up almost everything for her career but hasn't got much in return. Franz A. intended to be an undertaker, but decided on another, presumably more glamorous, career: prostitution, but as the manager of a brothel, he's seen better days. Jonas L. is a passionate watchmaker and also, a hit-man who comes under pressure from his client when he's contracted to liquidate an old friend. The story is multi-layered and actually begins with two corpses in a coffin that was only meant for one.
