White Beauty

Das Glück dieser Erde

Katharina Lenz has got a quick tongue. It looks like she's got everything under control. She looks great, she's a successful business consultant, and in two days she will marry a dreamboat. What more could you want? Isn't it awesome? Right. But then fate strikes, and Katharina's got to act when there's a fatal accident in her family. She calls off her wedding, not at the last minute, but at the last second. She ends up caught between two men -- and between all fronts. Almost overnight, Katharina Lenz becomes the new stud manager at Piber, the mistress of hundreds of Lipizzans. For the very first time in all the centuries of the glorious history of the stud, the million-dollar enterprise with dozens of employees is in the hands of a woman. But Katharina couldn't care less -- she's busy around the clock. She really doesn't have everything under control anymore. But, hey, you can't plan happiness.
