Ghostwriter

Ghostwriter

How can some authors write so many books in so little time? The answer is a very simple one: Ghost writing, the penning of a book for someone else. And this is much more widespread than commonly believed, particularly in the area of specialist books.

Whether a politician, a businessman or a student writing a dissertation, using a ghost writer is tempting for many. This entertaining documentary shows how one can have ones «own» book written in no time at all, provided one's pockets are deep enough to afford it.
