

SYNOPSIS

Sun, Moon and Stock Markets

Streitfrage Astrologie

We live in an enlightened world. Or at least that's the way it appears. But raise the curtain on the figures, graphics, laws and hard economic data, and what lies behind it is a tide of irrationality, including company bosses taking advice from financial astrologers, new employees being selected according to their star sign and pendulums being used to make critical decisions. The more the controlled world falters as a result of crises, the more gratefully people seem to resort to private mythologies, astrology and divination. The film explores this centuries-old fascination and examines the modern-day relationship between enlightenment, religion and superstition.

Year: 2011

Run-Time: 1 x 34 min.

Directed by Thomas Grusch and Elisabeth Krimbacher

Neue Sentimental Film for ORF

Available worldwide

Languages: German (ORIGINAL)

Format: 16:9 , 16:9 , 16:9

HD

» SCREEN ONLINE